

Oscar Piastri

Oscar Jack Piastri (/ˈpiːæstriː/ pee-AST-ree; born 6 April 2001) is an Australian racing driver who competes in Formula One for McLaren. Piastri has won seven Formula One Grands Prix across three seasons.

Born and raised in Melbourne, Piastri began his career in radio-controlled racing before moving into karting aged nine. Graduating to junior formulae in 2016, Piastri won his first championship at the 2019 Formula Renault Eurocup with R-ace GP. He then won both the 2020 FIA Formula 3 and 2021 FIA Formula 2 Championships back-to-back with Prema, becoming the sixth driver in history to win the GP2/Formula 2 title in their rookie season. Piastri is the only driver in history to win Formula Renault, Formula Three, and Formula Two—or equivalent—championships in successive seasons.

A member of the Alpine Academy from 2020 to 2022,^[a] Piastri signed with McLaren in 2023 to partner Lando Norris, following a contract dispute with Alpine. He made his Formula One debut at the Bahrain Grand Prix, achieving his first career podium in his rookie season at the Japanese Grand Prix. Retaining his seat for 2024, Piastri achieved his maiden victory in Hungary, becoming the fifth Australian driver to win a Formula One Grand Prix, and repeated this feat in Azerbaijan. In 2025, he has taken five further victories, as well as his maiden pole position at the Chinese Grand Prix.

As of the 2025 British Grand Prix, Piastri has achieved seven race wins, four pole positions, six fastest laps, and 19 podiums in Formula One. Piastri is contracted to remain at McLaren until at least the end of the 2028 season.^[1]

Early and personal life

Oscar Jack Piastri was born on 6 April 2001 to Chris and Nicole (née MacFadyen) Piastri in Melbourne, Victoria, Australia. He grew up in the inner-city suburb of Brighton with his three younger sisters.^[2] He claims Italian, Yugoslavian and Chinese heritage from his father's side as well as Scottish and Irish heritage from his mother's side.^{[3][4]} He was privately educated at Haileybury College Melbourne and then Haileybury and Imperial Service College in England as a boarding pupil on a sports scholarship.^{[5][6][7]} Piastri's father served as Piastri's mechanic during Oscar's early racing years in Australia and is the founder and owner of HP Tuners, a vehicle diagnostics automotive software company.^[8]

Piastri is a supporter of the Australian rules football team Richmond Tigers.^[9] As well as supporting Australia's national cricket team, he follows the Delhi Capitals in the IPL, after a post on his X profile asking for recommendations of which team to support.^[10] As of July 2024, Piastri is dating Lily Zneimer, an engineering graduate whom he met during his schoolgoing years. The pair began dating the year before Piastri completed his education in 2019.^[11]

Karting (2011–2016)

Piastri started racing remote-controlled cars at a national level before beginning his karting career in 2011.^{[12][13]} Having gone professional and competed in various Australian races and championships in 2014,^[14] Piastri began competing in European and other CIK-FIA sanctioned karting championships with Ricky Flynn Motorsport the following year. He moved to the United Kingdom to further his racing career in 2016, finishing sixth in the 2016 World Championship in Bahrain.^{[15][16][17]}

Formula 4 (2016–2017)

Piastri racing in British F4 in 2017

In early 2016, Piastri landed his first major sponsorship, HP Tuners (founded and owned by his father), which helped fund his racing career. This was displayed on his racing suit and car during the GP3 Series, F3 and F2 season. Later in 2016, Piastri made his single-seater debut in selected rounds of the Formula 4 UAE Championship with Dragon F4, claiming two podiums to take sixth in the championship.^[18] In September 2022, Red Bull Racing principal Christian Horner revealed that he missed a chance to sign Piastri to their junior team during his Formula 4 years.^[19] In 2017, Piastri was named as part of the TRS Arden Junior Racing Team's line-up for the British F4 championship.^[20] There he claimed six wins and six pole positions to finish as runner-up to Jamie Caroline.^{[21][22]}

FIA Formula 3 (2020)

In December 2018, Piastri took part in the GP3 Series post-season test at Yas Marina with Trident.^{[b][31]} In October 2019, Piastri joined the post-season test with reigning FIA Formula 3 team champions Prema Racing.^[32] In January 2020, the Italian outfit signed Piastri to contest the upcoming season,^[33] alongside Logan Sargeant and 2019 Formula Regional European champion Frederik Vesti. Piastri started third on the grid for his debut race at the Red Bull Ring.^[34] He collided with pole-sitter Sebastián Fernández at the first corner but avoided damage and went on to take victory.^[35] He then stated that "he thought [his] first Formula 3 race had ended in the first 10 seconds."^[36] Piastri took three consecutive second-place finishes at both Hungaroring races^[37] and the first Silverstone feature race, before his first retirement of the season came at the following Silverstone sprint race when a stuck-open DRS forced him to withdraw.^[38] Teammate Sargeant took the lead of the championship from Piastri at the second Silverstone feature race after Piastri struggled with reliability issues in qualifying.^[39] Piastri started fifth for the sprint race in Barcelona, but overtook multiple cars to take the lead before the end of the first lap. He held his position to take his second victory.^[40]

Piastri reclaimed the championship lead after finishing fifth at the following Spa-Francorchamps feature race,^[41] but dropped back again after being penalised for an illegal overtake in the sprint race, which Sargeant won.^[42] Piastri was penalised in qualifying at Monza for impeding Jake Hughes and started the feature race in 15th place.^[43] He charged to third place by the end of the race, benefiting from Sargeant being involved in a collision, to retake the championship lead.^[44] Piastri retired from the sprint race after he was hit by Clément Novalak, but was also issued a five-place grid penalty for the next race for earlier forcing David Beckmann off the track.^[45] Despite his retirement, Piastri maintained the lead of the championship after his teammates collided with each other. Piastri lined up 16th on the grid for the final feature race at the Mugello Circuit^[46] and failed to score points after finishing 11th.^[47] Title rival Sargeant finished sixth, leaving both drivers tied on 160 points going into the final race.^[48] Sargeant started the sprint race six places ahead of Piastri, but was eliminated after a collision on the first lap. Piastri's only remaining title rival, Théo Pourchaire, was unable to bridge the points gap and Piastri finished seventh to claim the championship title, three points ahead of Pourchaire and four ahead of Sargeant.^{[49][50]}

FIA Formula 2 (2021)

In December 2020, Piastri announced that he would continue with Prema Racing into Formula 2, replacing the departing Mick Schumacher and partnering Ferrari Driver Academy member Robert Shwartzman for the 2021 season.^[51] Piastri finished fifth in his debut race. In the second race, Piastri started from sixth and made up places before overtaking fellow Alpine junior Zhou Guanyu on the final lap to take the lead, claiming his first Formula 2 race win.^[52] Piastri started the feature race from eighth place but passed multiple cars to take the lead by lap 13 of 32. He was later forced into retirement after making contact with Dan Ticktum and spinning with two laps remaining.^[53] Piastri took consecutive second-place finishes at the Monaco round to take second place in the championship standings behind Zhou.^[54] Piastri retired from the first sprint race in Baku after a collision on the first lap, but finished second in the feature race.^[55] He claimed pole position at Silverstone,^[56] and took the lead of the championship after finishing sixth in the first sprint race. At the conclusion of the fourth round, he held the championship lead by five points over Zhou.^{[57][58]}

At Monza, Piastri took his first feature win in the series which included a battle on lap 25 with Zhou.^[59] and increased his championship lead with another pole and win at Sochi.^[60] Piastri became the second driver that season after Jüri Vips to win two races on the same weekend, finishing first in Jeddah's second sprint race^[61] and being in the lead at the time the feature race was aborted.^[62] The Australian clinched the title with a podium in race one at Yas Marina, thus becoming the third driver to win the championship in their rookie season.^[63] He capped off his season with a win in the feature race, his fourth in a row, which meant that Piastri had won six races, more than any other driver that season.^[64] With his championship, Piastri joined an illustrious company of Nico Rosberg, Lewis Hamilton, Nico Hülkenberg, Charles Leclerc, and George Russell, as the only drivers to win the GP2/F2 title in their rookie seasons. He also became just the fifth driver after Hamilton, Hülkenberg, Leclerc and Russell to win the GP3/F3 title, and then the GP2/F2 title the following year, and the first driver in history to win Formula Renault, Formula Three and Formula Two—or equivalent—championships in successive seasons.^[65]

Formula One career

Renault / Alpine test driver (2020–2022)

In January 2020, three months after clinching the Formula Renault Eurocup, Piastri became a member of the Renault Sport Academy.^[67] He conducted his first test with Renault upon winning the FIA Formula 3 Championship that year, completing nearly 500 km (310 mi) in the R.S.18 at Sakhir.^[68] He retained his place at the re-branded Alpine Academy in 2021, for whom he tested the A521 at the Yas Marina post-season test,^[69] as well as the R.S.18 again at Silverstone and Monza.^{[70][71]}

Piastri completed over 3,500 km (2,200 mi) of testing for Renault and Alpine as part of the Alpine Academy.^[a]

announced that Piastri would be his replacement, in a press release absent of comments from Piastri himself.^[80] He rejected their announcement two hours later via Twitter, stating that he had not signed a contract and would not be driving for them in 2023.^[81] Team principal Otmar Szafnauer criticised his actions and "integrity as a human being", stating that he expected loyalty from Piastri and further threatened to take legal action.^{[82][83]} It soon emerged that he was instead in talks with McLaren.^[84]

I understand that, without my agreement, [Alpine] have put out a press release late this afternoon that I am driving for them next year. This is wrong and I have not signed a contract with Alpine for 2023. I will not be driving for Alpine next year.

—Piastri via Twitter, denying the Alpine press release two hours later^[81]

After his FIA Formula 2 title victory, Piastri was appointed the reserve driver of Alpine for their 2022 campaign, amidst links to an Alfa Romeo move;^[72] he was also made available in the role for McLaren following an agreement between the two teams.^[73] He completed around 3,000 km (1,900 mi) of further private tests in the A521 throughout the season—part of an "intense" training programme.^{[74][75]} Prior to the São Paulo Grand Prix, he completed a private two-day test for McLaren at Paul Ricard in the MCL35M, before entering post-season testing in the MCL36;^[76] he conducted his final rookie test with the team across two days at Barcelona-Catalunya.^[77]

2022 contract dispute

In June 2022, Piastri was offered a seat with Williams for 2023 on a two-year loan from Alpine, who were expected to retain Esteban Ocon and Fernando Alonso.^[78] In August, Alonso announced that he would replace the retiring Sebastian Vettel at Aston Martin.^[79] Alpine then Alpine falsely claimed Piastri had signed for them in 2022, leading to a widely publicised contract dispute.

A hearing of the FIA Contract Recognition Board (CRB) commenced four weeks later to determine whether Piastri was contracted to Alpine, or if he was a free agent—victory for Alpine could have obligated Piastri to either fulfil the contract for 2023, or required an interested team to activate a release clause for his services.^[85] Prior to the Dutch Grand Prix, the CRB ruled against Alpine, followed by an immediate announcement that Piastri would instead join McLaren.^[86] In their final judgment, the CRB revealed that Piastri had signed his McLaren contract almost a month prior to the Alpine announcement—4 July, the day after the British Grand Prix.^[87] He was initially only guaranteed a reserve role, prior to the termination of Daniel Ricciardo in the week before the CRB hearing.^[88] Piastri later claimed a "breakdown in trust" between him and Alpine was behind his decision to leave.^[89]

McLaren (2023–present)

2023: Rookie season

Piastri signed for McLaren in 2023, replacing Daniel Ricciardo to partner Lando Norris.^[86] On debut at the Bahrain Grand Prix, Piastri qualified eighteenth amidst performance concerns with the MCL60, before retiring from twelfth with an electrical issue.^[90] He started eighth in Saudi Arabia prior to dropping outside the points with front wing damage sustained in a first-lap collision with Pierre Gasly.^[91] His maiden points finish came at his home Grand Prix in Australia, claiming eighth after starting sixteenth.^[92] He finished outside the points with eleventh and nineteenth at the Azerbaijan and Miami Grands Prix, respectively, suffering contact with Alexander Albon at the former and reliability issues at the latter.^{[93][94]} A tenth-placed finish saw him claim a point in Monaco,^[95] before a run of three further non-points finishes—in Spain, Canada, and Austria.^{[96][97][98]} Major upgrades for the British Grand Prix saw Piastri qualify third and finish fourth,^[99] before finishing fifth in Hungary.^[100] He qualified second for the Belgian Grand Prix sprint, retaining the position after a battle for the lead with Max Verstappen;.^[101] he retired from the main race ensuing a first-corner collision with Carlos Sainz Jr.^[102] Piastri then finished ninth at the Dutch Grand Prix.^[103] In Italy, he finished twelfth upon receiving damage from Lewis Hamilton, taking his maiden fastest lap after the resultant pit stop.^{[104][105]} He qualified seventeenth in Singapore after a red flag, where he recovered to seventh.^[106] Finishing third after starting on the front-row at the Japanese Grand Prix, he became the first rookie to achieve a podium finish since Lance Stroll in 2017.^[107] He then took pole for the Qatar Grand Prix sprint, holding off Verstappen to claim his maiden sprint victory;^[108] he finished second in the main race, having started sixth.^[109] He retired from the United States Grand Prix following a collision with Esteban Ocon,^[110] and claimed eighth in Mexico City.^[111] He sustained first-lap damage enroute to fourteenth in São Paulo,^[112] before closing his rookie season with tenth- and sixth-placed finishes in Las Vegas and Abu Dhabi—qualifying third at the latter.^{[113][114]} Piastri finished ninth in the World Drivers' Championship with two podiums and 97 points, 108 behind teammate Norris in sixth;^[115] his results led to a multi-year contract extension with McLaren until at least the end of 2026.^[116]

2024: Maiden wins

Piastri opened his 2024 campaign with eighth at the Bahrain Grand Prix,^[117] followed by fourth-placed finishes in Saudi Arabia and Australia.^{[118][119]} He claimed eighth again at both the Japanese and Chinese Grands Prix.^{[120][121]} In Miami, McLaren emerged as challengers to championship leaders Red Bull.^[122] Piastri dropped to thirteenth following a collision in his battle for second with Carlos Sainz Jr., as teammate Lando Norris took victory.^[123] He qualified second at the Emilia Romagna Grand Prix—demoted to fifth with a grid penalty for impeding Kevin Magnussen—and finished fourth.^[124] Piastri qualified and finished second to Charles Leclerc at the Monaco Grand Prix,^[125] prior to claiming fifth and seventh at the Canadian and Spanish Grands Prix, respectively.^{[126][127]} He finished second in both the sprint and main race at the Austrian Grand Prix.^[128] In Britain, he climbed to second from fifth in the wet before a belated switch to intermediate tyres dropped him to fourth;^[129] he fractured a rib during the Grand Prix due to an improper seat fit, which he sustained until the summer break.^[130] Piastri qualified second for the Hungarian Grand Prix before overtaking teammate Norris into the first corner; McLaren then allowed Norris to undercut him prior to ordering a position-swap.^[131] He allowed Piastri past with two laps remaining, who claimed his maiden victory to become the fifth Australian to win a Formula One Grand Prix.^[132] Norris commented that the result was "fair" and "honest", conceding that he lost the race at the start.^[133] Piastri finished second in Belgium after a disqualification for George

Russell, promoting him to fourth in the standings—ahead of Sainz—before finishing fourth at the Dutch Grand Prix.^{[134][135]} He led the majority of the Italian Grand Prix after a first-lap overtake on Norris, before a strategic error saw him finish second to the one-stop of Leclerc.^[136] Qualifying second to Leclerc in Azerbaijan, Piastri claimed another victory following a race-long battle for the lead.^[137] He then took third in Singapore,^[138] before finishing fifth at the United States Grand Prix.^[139] Eighth-placed finishes at the Mexico City and São Paulo Grands Prix—including second at the latter sprint after being ordered to allow Norris to win—were followed by seventh-place in Las Vegas after a false start penalty.^{[140][141][142][143]} Norris returned the favour at the chequered flag for the Qatar Grand Prix sprint, allowing Piastri to take victory before he finished third in the main race.^{[144][145]} He finished the season-ending Abu Dhabi Grand Prix in tenth after a first-lap collision with Max Verstappen.^[146] Piastri ended the season fourth in the World Drivers' Championship on 292 points—82 behind runner-up Norris—with two victories from eight podiums, helping McLaren win their first World Constructors' Championship since 1998.^[147]

2025: Title battle vs. Norris

McLaren entered 2025 as title favourites, with Piastri expected to challenge teammate Lando Norris for the World Drivers' Championship.^[148] Three days prior to the start of his campaign, McLaren announced a multi-year contract extension with Piastri until at least the end of the 2028 season.^[1] He qualified on the front-row for the season-opening Australian Grand Prix, behind teammate Norris;^[149] he challenged Norris for the lead before spinning in wet conditions, ultimately finishing ninth.^[150] After finishing second in the sprint, he took his maiden pole position at the Chinese Grand Prix, dominating the race ahead of Norris to claim his first victory of the season.^[151] He finished third in Japan behind Max Verstappen and Norris.^[152] Piastri took pole for the Bahrain Grand Prix, cruising to a 15-second winning margin and moving within three points of Norris.^[153] He took another victory in Saudi Arabia to become the first Australian to lead the World Drivers' Championship since 2010.^[154] He finished second in the Miami Grand Prix sprint after a late safety car put him behind Norris, before winning the main race.^[155] On pole for the Emilia Romagna Grand Prix, he finished third after a first-corner overtake by Verstappen and a strategic error.^[156] He won the Spanish Grand Prix after starting on pole,^[157] and finished in fourth at the following Canadian Grand Prix, the latter where teammate and championship rival Norris attempted to overtake him but crashed out. He finished second in Austria after a race-long battle with Norris, narrowly avoiding another collision after locking his brakes at Rauch.^[158]

Driver profile

Composure

Piastri (pictured at the 2024 Dutch Grand Prix) has been acclaimed by drivers and critics for his composure under pressure.

Piastri has been noted by critics for his composure under pressure. In 2023, Scott Mitchell-Malm of The Race compared his "relaxed intensity" to that of Max Verstappen.^[159] Upon winning the 2024 Azerbaijan Grand Prix, Luke Smith of The New York Times stated that "stress isn't an emotion one would associate with Piastri. His calm, collected demeanor has been present right from his junior days."^[160] This quality prompted several journalists to list him as a favourite for the 2025 World Drivers' Championship after the Bahrain Grand Prix,^{[161][162][163]} with Martin Brundle comparing him to Alain Prost.^[164] Andrew Benson of BBC Sport stated "combining consistent speed [with] mental solidity and racing decisiveness [makes him] a formidable rival".^[165] After winning the Saudi Arabian Grand Prix, title rival Verstappen stated "he's very calm in his approach, and I like that. [...] He delivers when he has to, barely makes mistakes—and that's what you need when you want to fight for a championship".^[166]

Development

Piastri has also been lauded for his adaptability, with race engineer Tom Stallard commending his ability to identify flaws in real-time and make improvements without data analysis.^[159] His ability to promptly learn from mistakes was initially noted by his engineer in the F4 UAE Championship.^[17] Sky Sports described his rookie campaign as "very impressive", noting that his tyre management required improvement.^[115] He was noted for his race pace development throughout 2024, as he took his maiden victories in Hungary and Azerbaijan—the latter was described by Luke Smith of The New York Times as a "coming-of-age drive".^{[167][168][160]} By 2025, Jake Boxall-Legge of Autosport opined that he had eradicated the tyre management and qualifying pace issues he experienced in his earlier seasons.^[163]

Piastri (pictured at the 2025 Japanese Grand Prix) has been noted for his development across his debut seasons.
